Anvisa suspended on Friday (11/11), the manufacture of the drug amoxicillin, with unapproved synthetic route, six different laboratories. The reason is that the process of the pharmaceutical ingredient synthesis was changed without the approval of Anvisa. The pharmaceutical ingredient is the raw material required to manufacture amoxicillin. Therefore, its determination, also called synthesis route, it is important to ensure the quality and the final product characteristics.

Anvisa action is preventive and only affects the manufacture of products with synthesis route not approved, to ensure that medicines maintain the same standard of quality when they were registered at Anvisa. The products are on the market can continue to be consumed.

The suspension six while laboratories happened because the six companies listed below acquire pharmaceutical ingredient of the same international manufacturer.
