Two drug collections were published by Anvisa on Wednesday (10/1). In both cases the collection was reported by the laboratories themselves that identified problems with their products.

The first payment is from the drug Depakote Sprinkle from Abbott Laboratories do Brasil Ltda. The reason was an error in printing the drug's expiration date. Six lots will be collected. Depakote is used to treat seizures.

The second case is that of the drug Diprivan and involves 32 batches of the product of the product manufactured by Aspen Pharma Industry Pharmaceuticals. In this case the reason was the inadequate storage by the company Majela Medicamentos Ltda. Diprivan is an intravenous anesthetic used in surgeries.

Check below all depakote lots of Depakote Sprinkle and Diprivan that must be collected.
