

Orofino Pharmaceuticals Group (OPG) consists of a range of companies specialized in third-party manufacturing services.

Our cutting-edge technology and our wide production experience are at each client's disposal in order to provide them with a high-quality service at a competitive cost. The Group offers its worldwide customers specialized services able to meet any industrial, technical and legislative innovation. The production essentially aims at the high-quality level of the manufacturing process and at competitive prices.

OPG is actively committed in the development of new products and most of its energy is focused on reaching new pharmaceuticals presentations. Currently the OPG can boast several strategic and important new patents. All news regard the improvements in technical quality of productions and the sterile administration of the injectable products.

The patents will revolutionize drug administration and significantly reduce the time and cost of production, it will also ensure the sterility of all injectable products during their preparation prior to their administration.