

About us

Interquim, s.a. is integrated into the Ferrer HealthTech division and manufactures active ingredients for the pharmaceutical industry. Our state-of-the-art installations are located in Sant Cugat del Vallès (Barcelona).

Our business is based on developing highly competitive processes for the manufacture of high added-value active pharmaceutical ingredients that meet the strictest quality specifications. Our products are manufactured under strict European environmental and work safety regulations.

Our products are exported to the largest regulated pharmaceutical markets, always respecting any applicable intellectual property rights in the countries where our clients do business.

Our quality system is governed by good manufacturing practices (GMP) and continual improvement. Our quality system and our installations have been inspected and approved by regulatory bodies and our clients, who demand the highest standards.

Ferrer is an international group of more than 50 companies active in the pharmaceutical, hospital, diagnostics, fine chemicals, feed and food sectors. Its products are sold in more than 70 countries.
